

20.2.24

20.2.24.

Ajanta

Page No.

Date

B.A Undergraduate Sem II ENG.
Major/Minor.

Famous Writers of European Literature

Some of the most well-known writers in the world, accountable for some of the best literary works, may be found in European literature. Several well known authors of European Era include

- (1) Sapphoes Greece
  - (2) Dante - Italy
  - (3) William Shakespeare - England
  - (4) William Blake - England
  - (5) Victor Hugo - France
  - (6) Johann Wolfgang von Goethe - Germany
  - (7) Gustave Flaubert - France
  - (8) Henrik Ibsen - Norway
  - (9) Leo Tolstoy - Russia
  - (10) Charles Dickens - England
  - (11) James Joyce - Ireland
  - (12) French Kafka - Prague
  - (13) Virginia Woolf - England
- The contour of European literature.

One cannot exaggerate or ignore the significance of European literary heritage. In addition to producing some of the most well-known and influential writers in the world. The continent is home to 1 other important culture and languages. Voltaire, Shakespeare, Hugo, Tolstoy, Nostradamus and others' works have all challenged the the evolution of European philosophy and thought, while also providing insight into European history and culture.

Further more, European literary tradition were spread worldwide and had a significant impact on the literary traditions of the colonized nations when European colonization started in the earliest 15th century.

Karunaditya Singh
Dept - English
Shri Balu College, Sur